

#29

I, SPY: World War II Espionage Tales

David Aaron

Crossing by Night. Morrow, 1993. A1223.c

Fictionalized account of Elizabeth Pack, the American wife of a stodgy British diplomat who was recruited by the British Secret Service to steal the Nazi's greatest secret—the Enigma machine.

Marvin H. Albert

Operation Lila. Arbor, 1983. A343.o

When British intelligence intercepts evidence of Hitler's plans to capture the French fleet at Toulon, Jonas Ruyter is selected to deliver the proof to the skeptical French admiral. With the Gestapo and SS on his trail and accompanied by a spirited woman who may or may not be trustworthy, Ruyter races the clock and the fast approaching panzer divisions.

Ted Allbeury

A Time Without Shadows. Mysterious Press, 1990. A412.t

In 1940, Philip Maclean sets up a Resistance network, code-named "Scorpio," in Paris and through two years of Occupation lives as a Frenchman and marries a French woman, Anne-Marie Duchard. He is personally ordered by Winston Churchill to abandon all caution and attack the Nazis, but someone betrays Philip and his entire network to the enemy. Forty years later, MI6 officer Harry Chapman discovers that all records of "Scorpio" were destroyed by a sinister British intelligence officer in 1945. His investigation into the past uncovers a chilling conspiracy.

John Altman

A Gathering of Spies. Putnam, 2000. A4544.g

Katrerina Heinrich, a Nazi agent as deadly as she is beautiful, is planted in New York by Germany where she immediately kills an innocent young woman in order to assume her identity. Her ultimate goal is to obtain atomic bomb secrets. Back in England elderly Prof. Harry Winterbottom, whose wife is in the hands of the Nazis, is recruited by MI-5 for "Operation Double Cross," a plan to fool Germany in regards to the date of the D-Day invasion. The paths of these unlikely spies will inevitably cross, with the outcome of the war—and the future of the world—in question.

Michael Barak

The Enigma. Morrow, 1978. B291.e

Francis de Belvoir, aka "The Baron," an urbane and daring thief has earned the enmity of the Nazis for having stolen half a ton of gold and smuggled it to England. Now his British captors offer him his freedom. All he has to do is return to Paris and steal the enigma encoding machine from the German high command.

Ronald Bass

The Emerald Illusion. Morrow, 1984. B2935.e

Fully aware that the Allies are poised for a secret invasion, Hitler's last desperate chance to discover their plans involves a German double agent whose target: an American in Nazi-occupied Paris who can tell the Führer what he wants to know.

Don Davis

Appointment With the Squire. NIP, 1995. D2874.a

With the war going badly for Germany in 1944, Hitler launches a desperate, top-secret plan dispatching three assassins to murder Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin. The assassin sent to eliminate FDR is Wilhelm Mueller, a ruthless killer raised in Boston by German parents, who manages to make himself deputy sheriff of Warm Springs, Ga., where FDR frequently visits the spa. Opposing him is U.S. Army intelligence analyst Jack Cole, who has a score to settle with the assassin.

Len Deighton

City of Gold. HarCol, 1992. D3632.ci

In 1942, Capt. Bert Cutler, late of the Glasgow police, is summoned to Cairo to ferret out a clever and elusive spy of Rommel's and plug a leak that is making the Axis advance towards Cairo unstoppable.

William Diehl

27. Villard, 1990 D5652.t

The Third Reich considers actor Johann Ingersol, a man of a thousand faces whose real visage few have seen, the perfect spy for a secret mission known as Number 27 destined to change the course of the war. It falls to Francis Scott Keegan, millionaire playboy and ex-bootegger, driven by a thirst for revenge after the Nazis murder the woman he loves, to find the man no one has ever seen and stop a plot no one has ever heard of.

Ken Follett

Eye of the Needle. Arbor, 1978. F722.e

A vicious Nazi spy takes refuge from a storm on a Scottish island while on a mission to thwart the plans for the Allied invasion.

The Key to Rebecca. Morrow, 1980. F722.k

Master spy Alex Wolff's mission is to steal British military plans and send them to Rommel, using a code whose key is buried in the pages of Daphne du Maurier's novel Rebecca. On his trail is British officer Major. Vandam, who has sworn to destroy him.

Colin Forbes

The Leader and the Damned. Atheneum, 1984. LT S269I

Forbes explores his hypothesis that Adolf Hitler was assassinated in 1943 and his place taken by a consummate actor under the orders of Martin Bormann. A Soviet spy inside the Nazi high command suspects the truth. British Wing Commander Ian Lindsay is certain of it and is forced to flee with his secret halfway across occupied Europe with the Gestapo, the Abwehr, the SS, and Soviet agents on his trail.

Alan Furst

The Polish Officer. Random, 1995. F993.po

After the Nazi invasion of Poland, Capt. Alexander de Milja, an officer of the Polish military intelligence service and cartographer, who moves from country to country spying on the Germans. He constantly changes his identity--Russian poet, Slovakian coal miner, etc-and manages to stay one step ahead of capture. Then a love affair with a woman of the Resistance leads him to make the greatest decision of his life.

The World at Night.* Random, 1996. F993.w

French Film producer Jean Casson learns that with money, compromise and connections, he can still live a comfortable life in Nazi-occupied Paris. He agrees to take part in an operation of the British intelligence service, but when the supposedly simple mission goes wrong, he realizes he must gamble everything-his career, the woman he loves, even his own life.

D. Gilman & John Clive

KG 200.* S&S, 1977. LT G4218.k

When the pilot of a downed Flying Fortress disappears without a trace, Allied Intelligence initiates a top-level investigation to solve the mystery. Eventually John Croasdell and Eugene Vandamme discover Kampfgeschwader 200---the base of a fighting force so secret that individual units within it are unknown to each other---near a remote mountain lake in occupied Norway. They are opposed by Major Rolf Warnow, code-name "Telemachus," and a beautiful double agent working in the British War Office.

Robert Harris

Enigma.* Random, 1995. H24437.e

Tom Jericho, a brilliant British mathematician working as a member of the team struggling to crack the Nazi Enigma code, must contend with, the mysterious disappearance of a former girlfriend, the suspicions of his co-workers within the paranoid high-security project, and the certainty that someone close to him, perhaps the missing girl, is a Nazi spy.

Jack Higgins

The Eagle Has Landed.* S&S, 1975. LT P277.ea

In a quiet seaside village in England, a beautiful widow and an IRA assassin set the groundwork for a disgraced war hero & his commandos to commit the ultimate act of treachery: the kidnaping of Winston Churchill. Followed by: The Eagles Has Flown.

Jack D. Hunter

Tailspin.* TOR, 1990. H918.t

In 1945, after Germany's surrender, Major Kaufmann of G-2 counterintelligence stumbles into trouble when he wonders why the Air Corps is ignoring an Italian report on stolen aerial bombs and when he asks an OSS officer about it, the officer is murdered before he can report. After 12 airworthy B-17s also disappear, it becomes clear to Kaufmann that the war may not be over after all.

Greg Iles

Spandau Phoenix.* Penguin, 1994, 1993. I2605.s

In 1987, soon after a "fake" Rudolph Hess dies in Spandau prison, German police sergeant Hans Apfel accidentally discovers a sheaf of yellow documents amid the rubble of the recently demolished prison which, when translated reveals a plot begun in 1941 involving Hitler, Hess, and Nazi sympathizers in the House of Parliament, to kill Churchill and replace him with the appeasing Duke of Windsor. When word of the existence of the papers gets out (they suggest a present-day neo-Nazi/South African plan to annihilate Israel) everyone from the KGB to a rogue Mossad agent race to locate them.

Black Cross.* Dutton, 1995. I2605.b

In 1944, four strangers---an American doctor, a German nurse, a Zionist killer, and a young Jewish widow---are sent on a deadly mission to an SS-run concentration camp serving as the incubator for a weapon of staggering lethality.

Susan Isaacs

Shining Through. H&R, 1988. I74.s

For Queen's, NY, secretary Linda Voss all of her dreams seem to come true when she marries her boss, but their union is rocked by his unfaithfulness. But this ordinary working girl emerges from WWII a bona fide hero after she joins the war effort as a spy.

Joseph Kanon

Los Alamos. Broadway, 1997. K1328.I

As work on the first atomic bomb nears completion, a German-born Manhattan Project security officer, is murdered under unusual circumstances. Intelligence Former Michael Connelly is brought in to find out whether the murder had anything to do with an attempt to steal atom bomb secrets--and then make the case disappear.

Robert Ludlum

The Rhinemann Exchange. Dial, 1974. L9636.r

In 1943 Buenos Aires, German & American meet to make the most sinister and terrifying deal ever made between two nations at war. Caught in the middle is American agent David Spaulding, who becomes the only man who can save the world from the horrible truth of the "Rhinemann Exchange."

Helen MacInness

Assignment in Brittany. Colline, 1966. M1794.as

Martin Hearne, a British officer impersonating a Frenchman to whom he bears a remarkable resemblance, attempts to locate the Nazi plans for defending against the upcoming Allied invasion.

David Poyer

The Only Thing to Fear. Tor, 1996. P877.o

In 1945 young naval hero John F. Kennedy is assigned a secret mission to protect Franklin D. Roosevelt from an assassination plot that will implicate the Russians, split the Allies and draw America into fighting the Soviets along with the Third Reich.

Daniel Silva

The Unlikely Spy. Villard, 1996. S5853.u

In 1943 London, a mild-mannered academic and friend of Churchill is drafted into MI5 to help break the most crucial intelligence case of World War II: the existence of a Nazi spy ring in England dedicated to uncovering D-Day invasion plans.

Dan Simmons

The Crook Factory. Avon, 1999. S58943.cr

A fictionalized account of the counterespionage operation set up in Cuba by Ernest Hemingway during World War II--with operatives such as fishing buddies, waiters, and prostitutes--for the purpose of snagging Nazi infiltrators.

James Thayer

Pursuit. Crown, 1986. T3246.p

Believing that only the death of FDR can save Nazi Germany, Hitler hatches a plan for a German POW in a camp near Seattle, WA, to slip away undetected to carry out the murder